

Good Questions

Time to think ... and share ideas

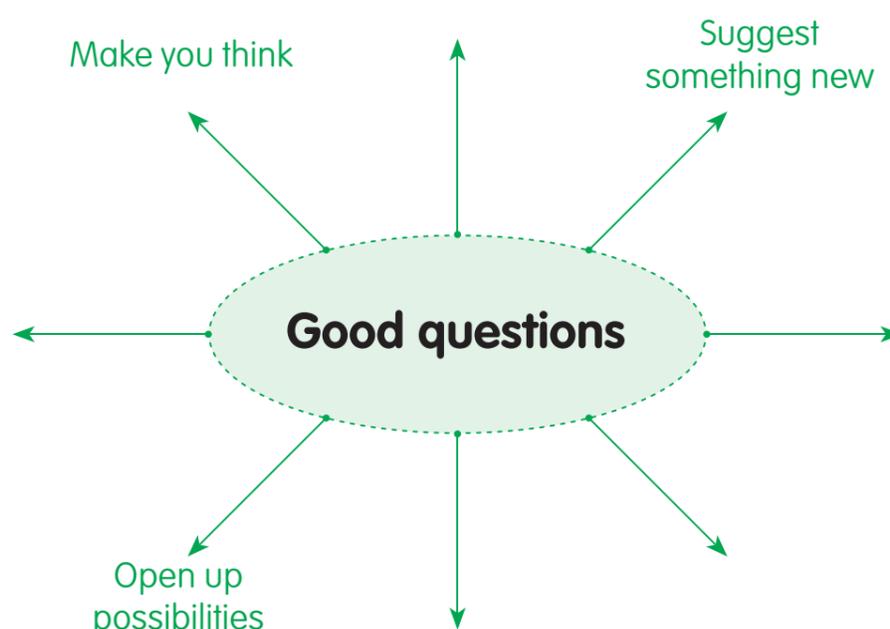

In a small group, think about people who make discoveries or create something original. Scientists, writers, artists, mathematicians, explorers, song-writers, chefs, doctors ...

Select two or three and think of the sorts of questions they might have asked themselves. Remember! Nobody gave them the answers and they weren't in the back of the book!

A way with words

Try to explain what makes a good question when you are learning.

Me-now!

How much do I push my learning forward by asking questions?

Questions in my head ...

My head is always buzzing with questions.

I can sometimes think of things I'd like to find out.

I prefer to answer the teacher's questions.

I'm not curious about things.

Different sorts of questions ...

I often think

- What if ... ?
- I wonder what?

I prefer questions I can easily find answers to.

I usually just ask myself what I'm supposed to do next.

Lots of answers to a question ...

It's interesting to find lots of answers to a question.

I get a bit confused if things don't become clear quickly.

I really prefer questions with one right answer.
